ICC SWITZERLAND
INTERNATIONAL
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
The world business organization

ICC

The International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) is the voice of the private sector within the UN, WTO, OECD, G20 and other international organizations. Its principal goal lies in promoting free trade and facilitating international investment.

Founded in 1919, ICC is the world business organization. Its members are organized in national committees.

As of 2017, ICC was granted formal Observer Status in the UN General Assembly. It's the only business organization with this status.

With independent institutions such as the International Court of Arbitration, the Commercial Crime Service as well as by providing guidelines, which promote self-regulation (e.g. Incoterms) and a vast number of publications on setting rules and standards in international trade, ICC supports the international trading system and facilitates the activities of companies.

Services

- Developing global business policy views on key issues that affect the ability of companies to track and invest across borders
- Hosting events with recognized experts regarding practical issues in international trade
- Services of specialised institutions such as combating commercial crime or global dispute resolution services
- Hearing Centre for arbitrations in Paris
- Publishing of reference books
- Running the World Chambers Federation as a global Network of chambers of commerce, including the rules of ATA Carnets and Certificates of Origin
- Training & e-learning platform with ICC Academy

ICC SWITZERLAND

ICC Switzerland, a body of ICC, is an independent association according to Swiss Law. Its office is at economiesuisse, the Swiss Business Federation. Members include international trading companies in particular, international or specialized law firms, chambers of commerce as well as major economic associations.

ICC Switzerland was founded in 1922 by economiesuisse (formerly Vorort), the Swiss Bankers Association and the Swiss Chamber of Commerce in France as one of the first ICC chapters.

On behalf of Swiss companies, ICC Switzerland provides access to the activities of the World Business Organization, informs about global economic developments, influences these from a Swiss point of view, and promotes positions taken by the international business community towards Swiss politics. The development and promotion of positions on economic policy occurs in coordination with economiesuisse.

Services

- ICC Switzerland exclusively appoints Swiss delegates to ICC commissions and coordinates their work
- ICC Switzerland hosts events on topics within the global activities of ICC
- ICC Switzerland is the official distributor for ICC publications in Switzerland
- ICC Switzerland runs the secretariat of the Swiss Commission on Arbitration, and ADR which appoints Swiss referees in ICC procedures at the International Court of Arbitration
- ICC Switzerland hosts the Focal Point for the UN Global Compact Network Switzerland
- ICC Switzerland opens access for Swiss Companies to the World Business Network as well as international Organizations, notably the UN
- ICC Switzerland voices the views of Swiss Business in global discussions

ICC MEMBERSHIP

Members of ICC benefit from:

- Early and specific information about international economic developments and possibilities to engage
- Exchanges of practical experiences among international trade experts
- Concessionary rates on fees for conferences and seminars hosted by ICC and on ICC publications

Companies providing expertise by participating in working groups and commissions enjoy further benefits:

- Direct influence on relevant international developments
- Straight access to exclusive information through direct contacts with international experts
- Access to an international network of qualified specialists

Gold and Platinum Membership

Gold or platinum members will have priority in filling vacancies in ICC commissions and get the opportunity for tailor-made cooperation within the framework of ICC activities (e.g. organization of special events). Moreover, platinum membership allows the direct shaping of areas of activity of ICC Switzerland.
